Dementia Day

Friday, April 21, 2023 | 7:30am - 4:30pm (ET) | Donald and Barbara Zucker School of Medicine at Hofstra/Northwell | 500 Hofstra Boulevard, Hempstead, NY 11549
Hybrid Interprofessional CE conference also offered virtually via Zoom

Statement of need: The activity is meant to educate the wider community of health care providers, patients and caregivers about the presentation, approach to the diagnosis, treatment and management of dementia. There is a general underestimation of the relevance and impact of dementia, both as a clinical entity and societal burden. Our health systems are not equipped to manage dementia, from the diagnosis to the overall management. They lack coordinated programs to manage the patients and support the caregivers. There is, finally, a great knowledge gap regarding novel and advanced diagnostic strategies and experimental approaches, as well as research and clinical trials that are available in our region, for these patients

Program objectives: All Northwell Health CME-CE activities are intended to improve patient care, safety and outcomes. At the conclusion of this conference, participants should be able to:

- Better recognize and classify patients affected by dementia. This will translate in an increased number of referrals to general practitioners, neurologists, geriatricians and recognition earlier in the disease process.
- Utilize the diagnostic resources available in the health system and beyond to obtain an accurate differential diagnosis. This will translate in more accurate diagnosis and consideration of differential diagnoses.
- Create effective strategies to manage patients. This will translate in overall better management of dementia patients and reduced burden on their caregivers.

Target audience: This program is designed for physicians, nurses, psychologists, and pharmacists. Other members of the health care team, including physician assistants, residents, medical students and all those interested in the topic of neuroscience regarding dementia are also invited to attend.

Joint accreditation statement:

In support of improving patient care, Northwell Health is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the health care team.
